Washington—The murder of Jacob Rosenthal by Mexican bandits may be the turning point in American policy toward Mexico.

Impatient over the failure of the Mexican government to respect the legal rights of American property owners, the Washington government has never been able to make that a paramount issue. Now that the broader principle of international law —protection of human life—has been violated in a region supposedly under the control of the Mexican administration, there is much more of an insistence that satisfaction be given.

For years when conditions in Mexico were unsettled the Wilson administration was bitterly attacked in the press and in the two houses of congress for failing to secure protection for the lives of Americans. Since the Republican administration has come into power there have been a number of murders and kidnappings but the European war took a good deal of ardor out of the members of congress who used to favor physical intervention.

RELATIONS ARE STRAINED
No such flagrant case as the murder of Jacob Rosenthal has arisen,
however, at a time when the relations were strained for other reasons. The incident is unquestionably going to furnish an acid test of the Calles government's attitude toward the American government. The United States has on more than one occasion counseled with the Mexican authorities in kidnaping cases. In every instance it was agreed that ransom would be paid and punitive measures taken afterwards. Just why the Mexican officials went ahead in their efforts to punish the criminals without obtaining the rescue of the American is not clear to the authorities here. Experience in past cases has taught that the sure way to save the life of a kidnaped American is to pay the ransom
and pursue the bandits to recover the money.

The Mexican situation has been aggravated by the death of Jacob Rosenthal. The Mexican government probably will present regrets as in the past but the inability of the federal authorities to guarantee protection to tourists is disconcerting to the American government which had come to believe that the Mexican government had reached a degree of stability which would make incidents of this character few and far between.
The record shows that banditry has been thriving in Mexico and that while not many Americans have been killed, a large number have been molested.

Schwartz Keeps Lead As 8 More Precincts Are Counted

Hint Zuehlke Will Enter November Race as Independent

Earl G. Schwartz, present under-sheriff, retained his lead of 26 votes over Otto H. Zuehlke for the nomination for sheriff on the Republican ticket when the last ballots of 8 additional contested precincts were counted Friday.

A meeting between counsel for each candidate and the board of canvassers scheduled for Friday morning will be held Monday, it was announced.

Although this conference is called for the proposed straightening out of dubious issues which arose during

PRESENT BEER VOTE DISPUTE IN HIGH COURT

Briefs for Both Sides Are Filed at Madison by Opposing Counsels

Madison—(AP)—The proposed Wisconsin beer referendum is invalid and would accomplish nothing.

It is valid as a means by which the legislature can seek information as to the sentiment of the electors.

These are the contentions of opposing counsels submitted in briefs to the state supreme court Saturday.

Arguments were prepared for submission to the court in the attack on the referendum proposal, brought by
S. A. Fulton, an official of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league. Walter Bender, counsel for Fulton, is seeking an injunction preventing Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman from submitting to the voters in the November general election the question whether congress shall amend the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer.

FILE ARGUMENTS
The brief filed by Mr. Bender gives the legislative history of the resolution which provide for the referendum. He then summarized his arguments as follows:

"The legislature is without authority to direct the submission to vote of the people of a question such as that embodied in these joint resolutions. The question is not within the scope of the legislative function. An affirmative vote on the proposed question could accomplish nothing within the state of Wisconsin; it would be wholly futile. Hence the legislature is without authority to require a vote upon the question.

Attorney General Herman L. Ekern
and C. A. Erickson, deputy attorney general, appearing for the secretary of state and others involved in submitting the question, defended the right of the legislature to order the referendum. They summarized their arguments as follows:

"The complaint does not present a case properly within the original jurisdiction of this court.

"Political functions and administrative officers should not be interfered with in advance by the court.

"The legislative power is not confined to enacting laws but includes all legislative functions not prohibited or limited by the constitution. The Wisconsin legislature, unlike congress of the United States, has all legislative power not prohibited by the constitution. The legislature has the power to pass joint resolutions, although the constitution makes no express mention of them. Resolutions to congress relative to congressional action or policies have always been considered a proper legislative function.

The subject being a proper one for legislative action the legislature can seek information as to the sentiment of the electors."

OPERA STAR HURT WHEN ENGINE HITS BOX CAR

Harvard, Ark.—(AP)—Marion Toller,
grand opera star, was slightly shaken
up early Saturday when the fast Friscio passenger train No. 806, known as the Memphis and running between Memphis and St. Louis, ran into an open switch here. The fireman and engineer were injured severely. The engine crashed into a box car and was turned around by the impact. No one left the track.

the first and second recounts involving 22 precincts it was virtually conceded unofficially late Friday that the board of canvassers would probably certify Mr. Schwartz to the nomination.

LOSE AND GAIN

In Friday's check of votes Mr.
Schwartz and Mr. Zuehlke each gained and lost three votes leaving the undersheriff with the majority of 26
ballots which he had after a recount of 16 wards was finished.

Again the possibility of further protest is seen with the results of the Monday conference still in doubt but opinion seems to concentrate on the belief that Mr. Zuehlke will accept the nomination as certified by the board and run as an independent candidate.

It was brought out Friday night
that no definite statement of intentions will be issued, however, before noon Monday at the earliest.

Candidates for county office, contemplating running as independents, have until Sept. 23, as the earliest date in which to file their papers with County Clerk John E. Hantschel.

Filing dates close 20 days later.
The losing candidate also has the alternative, it was pointed out, of carrying the matter into circuit court if he is dissatisfied with whatever decision is made by the board of canvassers. Five days is allowed after certification of a nominee for starting action.

TO SET TICKET PRICE IN ARMY-NAVY GRID BATTLE

Chicago—(AP)—The price of 40,000
seats to be placed on sale for the Army-Navy football game here Nov.
27, will be determined by returns from a public auction for 500 boxes each of which is expected to bring in the neighborhood of $2,000. The auction will be held within two weeks. It was announced by the South Park board, which controls Soldier field, scene of the coming service fray. It was indicated that most of choice seats, other than in the boxes, would cost at least $10, but the commissioners hoped to be able to offer some at $5.

MISSING MAN FACES CHARGES IN HOAX CASE

Radio Operator Will Not Be Given Immunity, Says
District Attorney

Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—With Mrs.
Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson under arrest on charges of criminal conspiracy and preparing false evidence, and the evangelist's appearance in answer to similar charges assured, District Attorney Asa Keyes Saturday moved to bring about the apprehension of Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus temple radio operator, named as a codefendant in complaints issued here Friday.

The arrest of Mrs. McPherson has been deferred, owing to her physical condition. She was reported improved Friday night but still confined to her bed with an infection of her nose.

The first arrest in the McPherson case came Friday when Mrs. Kennedy was served with a bench warrant. Accompanied by her attorney, she appeared for arraignment in municipal court and was released on $2,500 bond.
At the same time a deposit of $2,500
was made with the court to guarantee the appearance of Mrs. McPherson.

SEARCH FOR ORMISTON
Search for Ormiston was immediately taken up. His attorney, S. S.
Hahn, previously announced the radio man said to be the key witness in the alleged kidnapping hoax, would surrender as soon as a complaint was issued against him. Hahn's declaration that immunity would be given his client was vigorously denied Friday
by Keyes who announced that the radio man would be brought to trial and prosecuted upon same footing as others in the case.

Besides Mrs. McPherson, her mother and Ormiston, four others were named in a sheet of felony complaints issued. The fourth was Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Siefert, confessed perpetrator of the "Miss X" episode. She was taken into custody several days ago
following her sensational confession
that she had been hired and financed by the Angelus temple pastor to produce false evidence to substantiate the kidnaping story. The other alleged conspirators were named in complaints as John Doe, Richard Roe, and Sarah Moe and their identity is being kept secret.

18 AUTO DRIVERS ENTER PENNSYLVANIA CLASSIC

Altoona, Pa.—(AP)—Eighteen of America's foremost racing pilots awaited
the starting signal which at 2:30 o'clock sent the off on the annual 250-mile classic at the Altoona speedway. Prize money totals $50,000. The race originally was scheduled for Labor day but rain forced its postponement.

Prominent among the entries were Peter DePaolo, last year's racing champion; Harry Hartz, who leads the field in points scored thus far this year; Bonnie Hill, Eddie Hoare, Harlan Fensley, Leon Duray, Dave Lewis, Pete Kries and Earl Cooper.

Coolidges On Return Trip After Summer In Camp

Gabriels, N. Y.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge left here by special train at 7:40 eastern standard time Saturday morning on their return to Washington from their vacation in the Adirondacks.

Motoring six miles from White Pine camp, which was for over ten weeks
the summer White house, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge found natives and summer residents, who have remained later in the season, out in force to bid them farewell at the train. Acknowledging their applause, they went directly to their observation car, and in a few minutes the train left.

Floods Menace Grain In Middle West; Two Dead

Patrol Iowa River Levees to Guard Against Further
Loss of Crops

Chicago—(AP)—The middle west mounted guard Saturday over its grain field treasury, further menaced
by floods. Along the Skunk river through southeastern Iowa bundles of green corn stalks were pressed into service on sections of the levees, sacrificed to save higher fields of the bumper crop as yet untouched by the waters.

Patrols manned the embankments
on the lookout for first signs of such a gap as Friday widened to submerge
6,000 acres south of Burlington.

MEN LABOR CEASELESSLY

Across the Illinois line, men who have labored ceaselessly since Wednesday patrolled a thin wall of sandbags standing between Beardstown

and the Illinois river, swelled by torrents from the tributary Sangamon.
Much of the city of 7,000 is under water.

Northwestern Iowa bore the brunt
of the latest deluge in the midwest.
The most recent flood fatality was reported after a storm at Hull, where a 15-year-old girl was carried away with a small bridge. Her companions were rescued by an unidentified man.
Fields throughout the area were laid waste and railroads suffered heavy damages.

At Jacksonville it was estimated that the storms have cost the neighboring Illinois counties more than $2,000,000.

IOWA MAN DROWNS

Hawarden, Iowa—(AP)—C. M. Fleschmann, retired business man, was drowned during the flood which inundated the entire business section of the town. He was standing in front of the city hall when he slipped and fell into the gutter. The depth of the water prevented others from going to his assistance.

FLORIDA HIT BY STORM

Jacksonville, Fla.—(AP)—A wind of 100 miles an hour whipped Miami beach
Saturday, reports to the offices here
of the Western Union telegraph company said. The company is in partial touch with Miami beach.

The Western Union cable office at Miami Beach reported that the island was under "three feet of water"
and that "six feet of water" was running over the Miami beach causeway.
Electric light and telephone wires
were reported down and the telegraph company's men were isolated in their office.

SNOW TO OPPOSE SMOOT IN UTAH

Salt Lake City Man Launches
First Offensive for Senator's Job

Salt Lake City, Utah—(AP)—Senator
Reed Smoot, Utah republican party leader, a world court advocate and avowed dry, will match his years of campaign experience in the November election against Ashby Snow, local financier, who is launching his first major political offensive.

Snow was nominated at the state Democratic convention here Friday
after speakers had attacked Senator Smoot's record in voting for seating of senators charged with excessive campaign expenditures and his silence on the withdrawal of public land grants from western states. The land grant question has been an issue in Utah campaigns during a greater part of Senator Smoot's four terms in the senate.

Speakers referring to Mr. Snow's party record told of his activities in county and state committee affairs and characterized him as a successful mining financier.

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY SUIT ADJOURNED TO TUESDAY

Philadelphia—(AP)—Argument in the suit to prevent Tex Rickard from paying Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney
any money before their heavyweight championship fight, was heard Saturday and the case was adjourned until Tuesday.

The action came up through a "tax
payer's suit, who averred that Rickard intended to pay some of the receipts of the fight to Dempsey and Tunney in violation of the state boxing law.

The suit was filed Thursday and when it came up Saturday Ira J. Williams counsel for Rickard moved that it be dismissed on the grounds of insufficiency of averment and because the bill was defective in that it did not name Dempsey and Tunney. The court sustained the contention that the bill was defective and allowed the complainant to amend it.

PLAN WIDE ROAD FROM INDIANA TO MILWAUKEE

Chicago—(AP)—Directors of the Illinois Manufacturers association are considering a proposal of a 400-foot wide drive way from Michigan City,
Ind., to Milwaukee through Chicago.
The project was outlined by Samuel
M. Hastings of the association's advisory committee, and will be taken up with highway officials. The Hastings plans are for an interstate road
under joint supervision under commissioners from Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

ROSA MAY ENTER SENATE RACE IN COMING ELECTION

Madison—(AP)—Charles D. Rosa, Beloit, member of the State Tax commission, indicated Saturday that he is considering a possible independent candidate for United States senator in the November election.

Mr. Rosa has been affiliated with the Progressive Republican group
and is an appointee of Governor
John J. Blaine Republican senatorial nominee. He declined to make a statement as to his plans but indicated his decision would be made after the party platform conventions are held Tuesday.

He appeared interested in reports that Attorney General Herman L.
Ekern, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, probably would be an independent candidate for governor
in the general election.

EXPECT NEW EVIDENCE IN HALL MURDER

Persons Accused Say They Welcome Trial to Prove Their Innocence

Somerville, N. J.—(AP)—Four persons charged with the murder of Dr.
Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs.
Eleanor Mills Saturday were on record as welcoming a trial as an opportunity to prove their innocence, although the state is looking forward to new and startling revelations against them.

The state has abandoned or postponed efforts to indict for perjury
three or four witnesses against the
slain doctor's widow and three of her
male relatives. Orders for the April grand jury to assemble Monday, the last day of its existence, to consider evidence against the witnesses, have been rescinded.

Special prosecutor Alexander Simpson indicated one of the witnesses concerned, Ralph V. M. Gosline, former vestryman in Dr. Hall's church, might be called before the September grand jury next Tuesday, however.

DID NOT TELL ALL

Mr. Simpson declared he had evidence that Gosline did not tell the jury that indicated the four defendants all he saw when he and Miss Catherine Rastall, were in a car parked near the murder scene. Gosline's attorney said after a conference with Mr. Simpson that he would advise the vestryman to "come through clean."

Meantime Mrs. Hall and her cousin and two brothers indicted with her are prepared to oppose summoning of a jury from another county to try them, although they say they welcome trial. The four defendants were arraigned Friday evening and all pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Hall's bail of $15, 000 was raised to $40,000 and her cosins Henry Carpenter, and brothers Willie and Henry Stevens, were held without bail. After arraignment they issued a statement thanking their friends and well-wishers and reassert-ing their innocence of the double murder.

BLAINE ALLOWS STATE TO BUY GAME REFUGE

Madison—(AP)—Governor John J.
Blaine has authorized purchase by the federal government of certain lands along the Mississippi river for purposes of the upper Mississippi wild life and fish refuge. The acreage and the value of the land was not announced.

NEWSPAPERS MAY BROADCAST NEWS OF TUNNEY BOUT

Philadelphia, Pa.—(AP)—The newspapers of the country will not be shut out from broadcasting the details of the Dempsey-Tunney fight they receive over their wires from the ringside. This statement was made Saturday by E. L. Austin, director general of the Sequel-Centennial exposition.

It has been given out by Tex
Rickard, promoter of the bout in the Sequel-Centennial stadium, Thursday that the broadcasting rights will be leased and that if newspapers broadcast the fight from their own sources it would constitute an infringement.

TROOPS HUNT SLAYERS OF U. S. CITIZEN

Six of Dead Are Known by Soldiers as Guilty in Rosenthal's Murder

ENTER LAIR IN DISGUISE

Son-in-law Identifies Three as Members of Kidnap-
ing Bandit Party

Mexico City—(AP)—Thirteen men have been killed by Mexican troops pursuing bandits who stabbed Jacob Rosenthal of Woodmere, N. Y., to death, while holding him for ransom.
Six of those killed were regarded by the troops as guilty bandits; the others were suspects.

Three known bandits were killed
when soldiers disguised as civilians went to their lair ostensibly to pay them the $10,000 ransom which had been demanded. Seven suspects were killed Friday in fighting with federal troops near Huiztla.

The three other men, who had been identified by Joseph Ruff, Rosenthal's son-in-law, as having been with the bandit party which last Sunday robbed the members of Mr. Rosenthal's automobile party and took him away
into the mountains, were shot Friday night when an attempt to rescue them was made, it was announced. These three had confessed. They were believed taken under military escort from Mexico City to Huiztla to be examined at the scene of the kidnapping.

POLICE MAKE STATEMENT

A statement issued by the police says: "A party of men," presumably their bandit friends, "attempted to rescue them and in the ensuing fight
they were killed."

The state has abandoned or postponed efforts to indict for perjury
three or four witnesses against the
slain doctor's widow and three of her
male relatives. Orders for the April

CLOUDBURST HITS NORTH WISCONSIN

Fear Flooding of Indian Reservation; Houses, Rails Washed Away

Ashland—(AP)—A pipe-line valued at $20,000 was dynamited and completely destroyed to save the White river
power dam, houses were washed away,
and one woman was rescued with a ladder from a half submerged home;
1,000 feet of the Soo line fill at White river is washed out and tracks are hanging in the air; another fill in the principal street in the city of Ashland,
was washed away leaving street cars tracks high in the air. Over one hundred persons from Odawa were rushed to Ashland on a special when it was feared the Bad River Indian Reservation would be submerged in one of the most severe cloudbursts in years late Friday.

The water in White River rose two feet in an hour due to heavy rains
in the territory between Ashland and Hayward. The Bay City creek in the city of Ashland tore out a footbridge
at Northland college and washed several houses from their foundations,
floating them toward the bay. Mrs.
Mattie McRae was the woman marooned in her home surrounded by swirling waters who was rescued with a ladder.

Railroad bridges were weighted down with loaded iron ore cars to keep them from being washed away.
Roads are impassable and farm lands
are flooded.

The waters had somewhat subsided
Saturday morning.

ARREST COBBLER AFTER UNCOVERING FOUR STILLS

New Glarus—(AP)—State prohibition enforcement officers Friday arrested Morris Kruglohn, shoemaker of this village, after they had found four 40-gallon stills, two of them in operation, together with 15 barrels of mash and a 10-gallon keg of illicit liquor, in the basement of the cobbler's home here. The shoemaker was taken to Monroe for arraignment. He pleaded not guilty to a charge of violating the state dry law. Bond in his case was placed at $1,000.

CHANDLER WILL DIRECT LOCAL WORK BUREAU

Instructor at Vocational School Is Appointed to Position

Edward P. Chandler, instructor at the Appleton Vocational school, who was recommended by Herb Hellis, director of the school, for director of the Appleton division of the Federal Junior Placement bureau has been appointed to the position to a letter received from Francis I. Jones, Director General of the U. S. Department of Labor. Mr. Chandler's appointment will be effective on Oct. 1 and he will receive a salary of $1 per year.

The Vocational school has for several years conducted an employment bureau for boys and girls under 21 years of age. The co-ordinator, who is Mr. Chandler this year, has visited homes and employers, and has tried to effect an agreement between the employer and the prospective employee. This method is more efficient than the old random pick-up method. It was said, because the employer is furnished with data concerning the applicant as to his home, schooling, previous positions and character and because the candidates are given a choice of possible positions and is advised concerning his special fitness for each.

Such a bureau eliminates to a certain extent the square peg in the round hole, the school believes, and diminishes the economic cost of a large turnover of labor. Assistance with the Federal bureau will enable the school to have contracts with other federal employment bureaus and thus secure positions through them. Printed information about the services of such a bureau will be sent to the school when the appointment of a superintendent has been made as this data will be sent to employers throughout the Fox River valley. Those employers who wish to register their openings with the bureau will be sent the records of applicants who would be suitable for the positions open.

NEED ACCURATE FACTS

Accurate facts, concerning applicants are required. It was said. The records of the boys and girls are made as complete as possible and are kept up to date.

Green Bay and Milwaukee already have branches of the Federal Junior Placement bureau and have been successful in their work, according to word received from the bureau. Washington, D. C. Miss Margaret Gillette is in charge of the Milwaukee division and Miss Emily Toulou of the Green Bay division.

The service of this bureau is of course entirely voluntary. It was announced. Employers who register their wants with the bureau are in no way required to limit their search for help there. They may hire boys and girls who apply directly to them as well as those who are sent for their approval by the bureau. The school aims only to be of service to the community, including the employer and the employee.

Mr. Chandler's duties will be to ward three groups: the pupil, the school and the industry. For the pupil will provide the initial orientation, will counsel with him, arrange for his placement, attend to following up his progress in his position, handle readjustments and do special case work.

MUST KNOW INDUSTRY

With the industry, Mr. Chandler should be acquainted with a general knowledge of all industry, with an intimate knowledge of industry in the community including the general wage scale with the personal staffs of the local industries, and with the products processed in these industries. He should also bring to industries information on services the school can perform and should assist them in the selection of employees, in the upgrading of employees and with legal information. Employers should be informed of the progress of their employees in making in the school.

AWAIT MOTHER BEFORE GOING ON WITH TRIAL

A case against Harry Peterson, alias William or M. A. Parker, arrested by Appleton police on a charge of passing worthless checks, was postponed by Municipal Judge Theodore Berg pending arrival in the city of the young man's mother, Police Chief George T. Prim reported to the court that he had telephoned her of the youth's arrest and detention. It is expected she will arrive late Sunday or on Monday. Peterson passed one check for $5 and was attempting to cash a second when arrested, according to police.

GOOD HEALTH HIS ONLY CAPITAL

This is true of many working men, and women also, dogged with a haunting fear of ill-health and helplessness. Wm. F. Lagie, Anderson, Ind., heads nature's warning sign of pain and acts promptly: "When my back hurts and an irregular flow warns me of coming trouble, I take Foley's. A reliable, valuable medicine, constantly in use over 25 years. Satisfaction guaranteed. Cost little. Sold everywhere. Ask for Foley's, diuretic. Sold everywhere."

W. H. T. Radio Stars To Entertain In Appleton

AL CARNEY

PAT BARNES

Two well known radio favorites, Al Carney, pipe organ artist, and Pat Barnes, announcer and diversified entertainer from W H T Chicago, will be here at Appleton theatre next Monday. Monday night is silent night for Chicago radio broadcasting stations and the two stars are able to leave their studios.

ANOTHER MENTOR IS ENGAGED FOR 3RD GRADE PUPILS

Washington School Class
Too Large for One Teacher, Board Decides

A second teacher for third grade pupils at the Washington school was appointed at the meeting of the board of education Friday night at the superintendent of school's office. The enrollment in this grade was so large that the pupils were compelled to sit at tables and on the floor as there were not enough desks to accommodate them. Miss Grace Johnson of Waupaca, will instruct another class of third grade pupils; the board decided Miss Johnson was graduated from Oshkosh normal school in June, 1925.

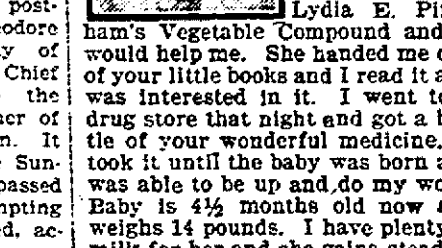

Compensation insurance for all employees of the schools will be carried this year, the board voted, and this insurance will be placed with one company. Boiler insurance also will be taken out with one agency this year. It was decided. In the past, with the district school system, this insurance was carried by the districts through any agency the district board chose.

Centralization of the purchase of manual training supplies was decided upon. These purchases have hitherto been requisitioned through the separate schools, but will now be carried out through the central office as other school purchases are. The plan submitted by Dr. Richard Thiel of the education department at Lawrence college, was accepted by the board for cooperation between the public schools and the students taking teaching work at the college. Only an outline of the plan has been prepared because of the indefiniteness of the number of students expected in this department, and Dr. Thiel will work with Ben J. Rohan, superintendent.

Home Economics Opens Many Careers To Women

Madison—(P)—Home economics has opened forty-five different careers to women. Miss Abby L. Marlatt, instructor at the University of Wisconsin finds.

Eight hundred women have found opportunities awaiting them in the different lines when they completed their work at the university she says. Their paths led into the following fields.

Advertising agency workers, advertising and sales departments of retail stores, advertising departments of manufacturing establishments.

Bacteriologists, biological research in colleges budget specialists in banks. Chemists in boards of health, child welfare workers, clinicians or dietitians in doctor's clinics, community health workers, costume design workers, consultants in home economics problems.

Demonstration agents, dietitians in hospitals, educational directors in department stores, extension workers, fashion editors, gift shop owners, special writers on home economics subjects.

Home makers, health nurses in schools, institutional managers, instructors in colleges, normal schools, and universities, interior decorators, newspaper and magazine workers, novelty shop managers, nutrition specialists in commercial establishments and doctor's clinics.

Physicians, professional shoppers, research workers in colleges and universities, saleswomen, sales promotion workers, secretaries in colleges, serologists in state boards of health, sociological research in colleges and universities, supervisors of home economics education.

Teachers in county agricultural and home economics schools, teachers in high schools, private schools and vocational schools, visiting housekeeping and women column and department editors.

"The greatest need of America today is a wisely educated womanhood," Miss Marlatt said. "As women, sets the standards of life, so the nation's homes are built and citizens made. No nation rises above the standards of its home life. In the farms, the towns, and the cities home problems are the same, but the environments differs with all, making the solution of those problems increasingly difficult.

"The home economics course is dedicated to training the woman, so that no matter what profession she chooses, she finds in the end that she has the knowledge, the methods, and the ideals which make for leadership in the community and happiness and contentment in the home.

"Today the profession of home making is a learned one, and she, who does not prepare for it faces the greatest work woman can do, with hands tied."

The first fall meeting of the Outagamie-co Bar Association will be held at the Northern hotel, Appleton, on Oct. 11. It was announced Friday by Attorney C. E. Behnke, secretary.

The gathering will be an informal luncheon meeting with probable discussion centering on the program for 1926-27. Regular meeting dates are the second Mondays of each month.

At present there is nothing of great importance to be taken before the association, Mr. Behnke said.

That a revival of debate on the feasibility of introducing a minimum fee agreement for the county association's sanction or disapproval may come up in the near future is being intimated in legal circles.

Attorney T. H. Ryan is president of the organization and Attorney C. G. Cannon is vice president.

Twenty-eight attorneys, 25 of whom practice in Appleton, comprise the membership.

GAS THREATENS SAFETY OF COPS

Traffic Policemen in Danger of Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

Philadelphia, Pa.—Danger of chronic carbon monoxide poisoning, due to exposure to the exhaust gas of automobiles, threatens the lives of traffic policemen.

This danger has been discovered, after several tests in this city, by four physicians who studied the blood of policemen who had been on duty for as long as eight hours at the important street intersections of Philadelphia.

Doctors Elizabeth D. Wilson, Irene Gates and Hubley R. Owen of this city, and Dr. Wilfred T. Dawson of Galveston, Tex., were the investigators.

They had noticed men on duty in the congested district returning to their precincts and complaining of symptoms that might be due to carbon monoxide poisoning. These symptoms were headache, slight nausea and muscular weakness.

They took samples of the blood of 14 traffic officers, after their eight hours' duty, and found as high as 30 per cent carbon monoxide in the hemoglobin, or red corpuscles, of the blood.

"Investigation shows that the present street risk of carbon monoxide poisoning from eight hours of constant exposure is that up to about 30 per cent of the hemoglobin may be temporarily saturated with carbon monoxide," the report reads.

"At about 30 per cent saturation very slight symptoms, such as slight increase of pulse rate, deeper breathing and slight palpitation became observable during rest and running upstairs was followed in about half a minute by dizziness, dimness of vision and abnormally increased pulse rate."

By morning, however, the report concludes, the poison is almost entirely eliminated. But the fear is ex-

FORMER ENGINEER OF CITY LOWERS TAXES

That Oscar F. Weissgerber, former city engineer of Appleton and now city manager of San Mateo, Calif., is meeting with success in his new venture is indicated from reports received here from the western city.

Although San Mateo has increased its budget $23,000 for the ensuing year, taxpayers there will enjoy a 10 per cent reduction in their tax rate for the coming year. The total budget as presented by the manager and adopted by the city council at a recent meeting is $120,254 as against $97,834 last year. Mr. Weissgerber is granted an increase in salary from $4,500 to $5,000 annually. During the last two years the tax rate of that city has been reduced 20 cents.

RUDYARD WAXES BITTER

Because he has usually been so temperate and restrained in his literary works Rudyard Kipling's diatribe against America is all the more noticeable. In bitterness it falls little short of former attacks upon Germany. In speaking of our war efforts it says:

At the eleventh hour he came,
But his wages were the same
As ours who all day long had trod
The winepress of the wrath of God.

We went home, delivered thence,
Grudging him no recompense
Till he portended praise or blame
To our works before he came.

Till he showed us for our good—
Deaf to mirth and blind to scorn—
How we might have best withstood
Burdens that we had not borne.

Other verses in the book serve to picture possibly the general feelings, in England and France particularly, toward America, feelings that have no basis in fact, no just cause, but have resulted from envy at our comfortable position and misstatements made by European politicians.

Although we were in the war for less than half its course we spent as much money for war purposes as did some of our allies who were in it from the beginning. In spite of this huge expenditure this nation has been able to maintain a stable course, in part because of its vast natural resources but also because its business affairs were handled by its treasury department in a particularly high grade manner. We must not forget that the forty per cent income taxes laid upon our wealth and our industry made it possible for us to meet our obligations. We were fortunate in having at the helm at Washington an administration that would not spend money until it had it to spend and a director of the budget who kept the doors of the treasury closed to all excepting expenditures of the utmost necessity. We would probably have had the same chaotic conditions in America had we after the war the same sort of socialistic governments that ruled in Europe. Nor had this country prior to the World war been so bled as European nations in the maintenance of vast armies and navies, things that may have seemed and been necessary, but for which at least we were without blame.

Mr. Kipling seems to have been overcome too by the unreasoned attacks of European politicians upon us. Forgiving France as we do for all the billions we advanced her during the course of the conflict and only asking the repayment of the moneys advanced since the Armistice is said to be selfish and deserves the appellation "Uncle Shylock" flung at us. It is the old, old story with the politicians. Getting into power in Europe, as they do in America, upon far flung promises, finding themselves without the ability or the understanding to operate the ship of state, they look around for an object of attack upon whom to blame the evil consequences of their own shortcomings.

The conscience of America is clear. It entered the war with high ideals. It fought the war from conviction and with courage. It decided the war. It took not a rod of land nor a dollar of money by way of indemnity. It paid its own way and part of the way of others. It will not permit bitter words, misguided thoughts nor the antics of politicians to savor it from its course of justice.

THE CANADIAN ELECTION

Revised returns from the Canadian election indicate that the Liberal party may have a working majority in the next parliament after all. They are very close to an actual majority and it is stated they will probably have no trouble in making an agreement with the Liberal Progressives from the prairie provinces, in a third of whose ridings they made no nominations.

If this is the case, it will be the first time in the last five years that Canada is to escape instable and altogether unsatisfactory bloc government. During all that time there has been no well defined national policy and the country has been uncertain as to where it stood in legislation and administration affecting its business and social life. It seems to be accepted that the heavy swing toward the Liberals resulted largely from the contention that the independence of the Dominion was at by the action of Governor General Byng in the matter of parliament dissolution. This constitutional issue was fought with much feeling.

Undoubtedly the return of the Liberals to power will bring out closer relations with the United States, while it dismisses for the time being our apprehension of Canadian tariff reprisals. If the liberal machinery is willing to consider a revival of reciprocity negotiations, we should by all means take advantage of the opening. The election is likely to turn out for the good of Canada as a whole, and particularly the western provinces where the Liberals stand to do more for the farmers than the Conservatives.

DAWES KEEPS POUNDING AWAY

Vice-President Dawes is undismayed by the criticisms and unfavorable attitude of the senate toward his proposal for reforming its rules. Apparently he is appealing to the people and believes he can make his case good with them. We think he is right. There is much in the methods of our legislative bodies that could be improved, and most conspicuous of all that need improvement is the United States senate. In some respect its procedure is moth-eaten with traditions and cobwebbed with political practices that have almost the sanctity of law by reason of long usage. Furthermore, the senate is a stubborn body and is temperamentally opposed to change. It is more concerned with self-esteem and self-veneration than with legislative efficiency. The game must be played there in due and ancient form, regardless of how much it costs the nation in undischarged or poorly discharged duties.

It is against this condition that General Dawes justly protests. What he demands, in a nutshell, is a modification of rules so that a majority of the senate can function at any time it wishes, or at any time of national exigency. The present system is conducive to minority rule and to senseless and prejudiced obstruction. Instead of promoting thorough consideration of legislation it fosters filibusters and other devices to defeat or delay the legislative will of the majority. No filibuster is ever staged in behalf of further or more thorough consideration of a bill. Its sole purpose is to postpone or prevent action. It is the will of the minority arbitrarily interposed to block the will of the majority. Obviously a system which makes a great law making body helpless at the hands of a few obstructionists is faulty. It cannot be defended on the ground of upholding free or unlimited debate, for the double reason that a filibuster involves no such principle, and because a legislative body must be self-governing.

Eventually General Dawes will win out in his assault on obsolete senate rules, because the logic of common sense, efficiency and right results is clearly on his side. As the vice-president said, the use presented by the filibuster or threat of its use is often absurd, so absurd in fact that such farces must be cured by the reforms General Dawes advocates.

PARENTS, CRY THIS ONE OFF

Here is a letter which ought to make parents feel uncomfortable:

Dear Dr. Brady:

We are two girls aged 15 and 16 respectively. We do not know anything about life, as our mothers have never told us anything and show no indication of doing so. We do know, however, that there are some things a girl should know, but what they are, we haven't the faintest idea.

We have read several novels in the hope of discovering these mysterious things, but we have never succeeded.

Will you please tell us everything that we ought to know for our own protection against the dangers to which we have heard many people allude?

We have established a close intimacy with our mothers in all things except this. Somehow we cannot ask about this, and for some reason our mothers do not tell us.

Sincerely yours

I believe these girls are perfectly sincere. I get some letters which on their face are not sincere. I have done the best I could for these girls, sending them a letter which explains matters as well as I can explain them. I am glad to send a copy of that letter to any girl over 15 years old on her request. If she will provide the stamped envelope bearing her address, I shall send the letter to no one else. Girls not over 15 years of age may have it if their parent or guardian approves.

But, fathers and mothers, have a heart. Think of these children seeking knowledge of the sacred thing in novels! Then smile next time you hear anybody prating about our wonderful educational system. What kind of stuff do we teach children in school, that they must turn to novels for their knowledge of life?

Mothers should begin from the very first telling children the truth, and no myths about such a sacred thing. The very first questionings of children should be answered by mother truthfully. Mother will find the way outlined for her in a pamphlet which she may purchase from the government printing office at Washington for 5 cents. It is entitled "The Wonderful Story of Life" and is issued by the public health bureau of the treasury department.

Some pamphlets issued by the educational bureau of the American Medical association, Chicago, are a great help in the proper instruction of boys and girls on matters of sex. For boys from 10 to 15 years old "John's Vacation", for boys 16 to 18 years old "Chums", for girls 12 to 14 years old, "Margaret, the Doctor's Daughter", for girls 16 to 18 years old, "Life's Problems". These cost 25 cents each. Another valuable pamphlet on "The Boy's Venerable Pearl" costs 10 cents.

Parents who want to do the right thing by their boys will find the book called "The Parent's Guide", issued by J. L. Nichols & Co., Naperville, Ill., precisely what it's title implies. I forget what it costs, but the public library should have it or any book store can obtain it.

Parents find this branch of pedagogy the most difficult branch of all. Indeed, trained teachers find it difficult enough. But since the schools ignore it, parents must tackle the job themselves.

Oily Scalp

Kindly advise what to do for a very oily scalp. Just a day or two after a shampoo my scalp and hair become greasy. (S. M.)

Answer.—If the hair is not gray or very light color apply to the scalp night and morning a few drops of a solution of 10 grains of resorcin in one ounce of alcohol, toilet water or witch hazel extract. Resorcin tends to stain gray or light colored hair yellow.

Dear Colyum:

Last week I bought a car and Sunday I saw where a price cut of $100 was made. This made me so happy that I bought the salesman a box of good cigars. One does so enjoy keeping their hard earned money in circulation and I almost shiver to think that I might still be hoarding that extra hundred smackers had I not listened to the peddler's "do it now," when the dotted line was placed before me.

WITH APOLOGIES TO MR. DOOLEY

Dooley: That was a splendid grist which Bishop Miller ground out and delivered at the Methodist's Conference last Wednesday.

Hinnissay: You don't say so! Did he deliver th' cargo iv facts on th' Mexican situation as advertised in advance in th' papers?

Dooley: No, not a single fact. But that is not surprising; facts a-are so easily lost in transit. I'der thought go or carcass came over four thousand miles. What is my way. It is conclusion only that we benighted people want. Whether out betters draw them from facts or fancies is immaterial to us. Give us th' conclusion and we will create th' public opinion that is desired.

Hinnissay: But what is in his grist, what is in his conclusions?

Dooley: Ah, Hinnissay, as I said on another occasion, it is not what is in it, it is what is not in it that is important. Like th' pole cat, it is what he let go that concerns th' by-stander. It is th' purpose iv th' effusion that commands it to th' wake minded.

Everywhere Catholics always a-are, a-are and ever will be tyrants and assassins, is th' thought that pervades th' entire alvine evacuation. Th' statement: "There is no religious persecution by the Mexican Government in Mexico today, but there is religious persecution iv th' Roman Catholic Church," without citing a fact in support thereof, and such statements as: "Th' wide spread vigorous propaganda which is under way in th' United States is to make it appear that th' Mexican Government has reverted back to th' Dark Ages, and is turning upon th' Roman Catholic Church th' methods so energetically developed by that church in its treatment iv followers iv other faiths in all countries where th' Roman Catholic Church has control iv th' situation," unsupported by a single fact or authority, convince me that our Bishop has some of th' traits iv th' millers iv old. There a-are some people, Hinnissay, who a-are affected iv th' whole truth. Their wizen brains can stand a little but not much. Such persons, however, a-are valuable in a community, particularly in a college town like ours.

They a-are so provocative iv arousing the finer feelings in th' minds iv our youth that they should be in every pump in our city and in every classroom iv our college. They radiate th' Christ-like spirit—th' spirit iv peace, charity and brotherly love. Accept without question their imaginings, bathed in th' slime iv their religious prejudices, kill as witches those who do not agree with them, as was done in Salem; burn th' Catholic convents and churches as did their precursors, th' knownothings, kidnappers, tar and feather, th' knucklers a-are doing to day.

In a word wipe out th' Catholic Church in Mexico if you will, but for God's sake give Mexico "an intelligent sympathy and a moral support." Yes, because th' Catholics a-are now th' ones hardest hit, give Mexico this sympathy and support even though her constitution and laws a-are an attack on th' established principals iv civilization and humanity—an attack on those principles for which our forefathers fought and died.

What is more, Hinnissay, th' so called Mexican constitution iv 1917 was not submitted to th' people, but was imposed by an infinitesimal military minority by bullets and not by ballots in violation iv th' constitution iv 1857. Undoubtedly th' reason Bishop Miller did not tell this to his audience is he feared Calles and his rump Congress would be denied th' great desideratum, "an intelligent sympathy and a moral support." Had our Miller Bishop told his hearers that neither th' churches nor th' clergy iv th' denomination in Mexico a-are permitted to own real estate, or mortgaged thereon, to own church buildings or any other buildings, to possess invested funds or other productive property, to maintain seminaries, convents or nunneries, to conduct private schools, to direct or administer charitable institutions, to hold religious ceremonies outside iv church buildings, to clothe their priests or ministers in the garb indicative iv their calling, to publicly criticize th' fundamental laws, th' authorities in particular or th' government in general, to vote, hold office or assemble for political purposes, to comment in religious papers on political affairs or to open a new temple iv worship for public use without official permission, he use without official permission, had, I repeat, he told this to his hearers his audience might inquire what in the name of Him, whom they all a-are trying to serve, a-are th' clergy permitted to do in Mexico.

Th' right to do these things a-are guaranteed by our constitution and by every other civilized government in th' world, except alone that iv Soviet Russia. As was said in a recent issue iv th' St. Louis Post Dispatch: "These provisions a-are so repellent, so alien to our own ideas of th' right to worship as we see fit, th' right to own, hold and dispose iv property, and finally th' right iv free speech, that further editorial comment seems almost unnecessary. Is there any wonder for wonder that th' religious people iv Mexico a-are in revolt or that Mexico is forfeiting th' respect iv other nations?"

Listen to this, Hinnissay, an excerpt from th' Wall Street Journal, dated July 9, 1926:

"Mexico's new constitution swept away all semblance iv religious liberty. Parents a-are denied th' sacred right to have their children educated according to their conscience, even in private schools. In th' enforcement iv laws based on th' constitutional provisions women—girls and nuns—have been treated in a way that cannot be described in public print. As in Russia, th' idea back iv all this is to deliberately break down and destroy that very thing which we hold basic for th' preservation iv our free institutions. This is th' Red Doctrine, which is in direct conflict with our conceptions iv government and citizenship. Our institutions a-are founded on certain basic truths. In th' adoption iv th' present constitution, in th' enactment iv various laws in accordance with th' provisions iv that institution, Mexico shows her hostility to our doctrines and her adherence to those iv th' Reds. Between th' two there can be no compromise. Self-protection demands that we do not encourage th' spread iv th' Mexican doctrines in our country."

Again, Hinnissay, listen to this, taken from th' Mirror, Springfield, and bear in mind all these authorities a-are non-Catholic.

"No where outside iv Russia is religious training absolutely forbidden except in Mexico; where th' name iv God must not be mentioned in schools."

"No where outside iv Russia is trial by jury denied to all who urge that th' national constitution be amended except in Mexico; where all th' anti-religious provisions iv th' infamous constitution iv 1917 a-are made sacrosanct."

"No where outside iv Russia is freedom iv speech absolutely denied to all as it is in Mexico, where th' religious press is forbidden to comment on any act iv th' government; th' right iv peaceful assemblage, to protest against th' injustice iv th' law, is denied, and those who circulate petitions to amend th' constitution a-are summarily thrown into jail because all criticism iv th' religious provisions iv th' constitution is unconstitutional."

In th' face iv these facts and these authorities, this Mexican Bishop has th' effrontery to state: "There is no religious persecution by th' Mexican Government in Mexico today." Can't you with a constitution that denies to citizens th' inalienable rights iv life, liberty, and th' pursuit iv happiness and th' tyrannical and despotic laws made thereunder, he tells us, "that th' Protestants a-are consistently obeying th' law and going with a religious work undisturbed." If this be true, Hinnissay, all I have to say is this: "What a departure from the Protestantism iv our colonial days! What a contrast with th' action iv th' Christian martyrs in all th' ages!"

WAR DEPARTMENT BUYS 86 DODGE BROTHERS CARS

The Quartermaster General has awarded Dodge Brothers, Inc., a contract for ten sedans and seventy-six touring cars for army use in different parts of the United States. The cars are in every respect Dodge Brothers standard product.

"The Dodge Brothers Sedan and Touring Car have been approved as suitable for Military Service after severe practical tests and are the present standard five passenger cars for army purposes," said Maj. General C. F. Cheatham, in announcing the purchase.

"The Dodge Brothers cars have for a number of years been actually used in the United States Army in Mexico, Europe, Island Possessions, and within the Continental limits of the United States, and found satisfactory for Military use."

This Quartermaster purchase follows an order from the Panama Canal Commission for 21 Dodge Brothers Motor Cars and Graham Brothers Trucks (both of which use the same engine) and more recently by an order from the U. S. Marines for twenty Graham Brothers Trucks. Last year the War Department purchased over fifty Dodge Brothers Motor Cars to replace as many which had been in service ever since the World War during which fully 20,000 of these cars were used. The additional orders are considered a significant tribute to the sturdiness and dependability of Dodge Brothers product.

D.A.R. Unveils Monument To Mark Pioneers' Trail

ABOUT 25 members of the Jean Nicolet chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution of Green Bay were guests of the Appleton chapter at a luncheon Friday noon in the Crystal room at the Convent hotel. The tables were prettily decorated with bouquets of red, white and blue. After the luncheon the guests were taken to the corner of E. College ave. and Green Bay-st. where a boulder marking the first wagon road from Appleton Green Bay was unveiled.

The program, which was in charge of the landmarks committee consisting of Mrs. Roy Davis, Mrs. A. H. Krugmeier and Mrs. F. V. Heilmann opened with a salute to the flag and a prayer by Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor of the First Congregational church. Mrs. J. A. Branson of De Pere, state chairman of landmarks gave the history of the road. She recalled the old plank roads which were made by spiking the oak planks to long timbers.

In her address, Mrs. Branson said: "This particular road in which we are interested today had its beginning at Menasha. Starting from Menasha we follow highway 114 going east to the first left hand turn which branches off from the concrete in a north easterly direction and intersects with the lake road. At this intersection stood one of the toll gates. This lake road is a continuation of S. Oneda-st out of Appleton, turns north and follows Oneda-st to College-ave, turns to the right passes along College-ave to the eastern extremity where it intersects with Green Bay-st. We go down the hill on Green Bay-st along the river bank a short distance, then ascend the slope where the road entered through here we go past the monument of Peter White, 1882, of Dr. Emory Stansbury, 1890, then diagonally across a cemetery road to the north-west corner of the George Walter monument, past the Rev. Albert monument, 1894, and on to the edge of the cemetery, keeping in line with a mausoleum, continuing across the Meyer farm to the Little Chute road which is a part of Highway 15. We go on into Kaukauna and just below this city the old Green Bay road crossed the Fox river at what used to be known as Martin's Ferry. Then on to Wrightstown. About midway between Martin's Ferry and Wrightstown, the road connected with the Military road. There was no communication between Fond du Lac by the west side of the lake so that people traveled on the Military road to Beach's which was south of Wrightstown and then over the Old Green Bay road."

After Mrs. Branson's address the boulder was unveiled and the flag

NOTABLE CAST SUPPORTS VALENTINO IN NEW FILM

When Rudolph Valentino comes to town next week for a stay at the Elite Theatre in his latest film, "The Son of the Sheik," he will bring along one of the greatest casts of any recent picture. The return of El Rudolph to the sheik role in which his public so esteems him is made in the very best moving picture company.

Vilma Banky, beautiful and exotic Hungarian actress who came to America a few years ago and has since appeared to fine advantage with Ronald Colman in "The Dark Angel" and other films, as well as with Valentino in his latest picture, "The Eagle," is once more opposite Rudy. She is Yasmin, the tortured dancing girl of the desert whose heart calls to the stern Son of the Sheik.

Montague Love, himself a star in pictures, plays the chief villain's role, and he is said to be so bearded and begrimed that admirers will hardly recognize him. In his robber band there is one chesty soul to whom a turban is a new thing. This famed beauty is none other than Bull Montana.

Agnes Ayres, who was finally the wife of the Sheik when Rudy played that dashing lover several years ago, returns to the screen as a courtesy to her friend and out of gratitude to a picture which meant so much to her success. In "The Son of the Sheik" Miss Ayres is the wife of the sheik who thinks of the early days as the son, Ahmed, lives the passions of the desert.

George Fawcett, veteran at father roles in a hundred noted films, is the renegade Frenchman whose indomitable will causes so many pangs to his beautiful daughter, Yasmin. Other notables who support Valentino are the baldheaded Bynumsky Hymas, smiling Erwin Connelly and Charles Requa. The significant role of Sir, which will be remembered by many of the thousands of readers of Mrs. Hull's novel, is played by William Donovan.

Karl Dane, the famous "Slim" of "The Big Parade," has one of the leading supporting roles in the cast of "The Son of the Sheik," for it is he who plays Ramadan, the giant friend of Ahmed and protector of Yasmin.

"EARLY TO WED" PICTURE
SURE TO PLEASE EVERYONE
"Early to Wed," the Fox Films production coming to the New Bijou Theatre three days starting Monday is a picture that will appeal to those who have been married so long they've forgotten about having anniversaries, to those who have just embarked on the matrimonial sea, to the ones who are just contemplating the voyage, and to the heavy lookers on. It is the story of a young couple who lived beyond their means to impress the husband's friends. Worst think they are pursuing the wisest course towards success and keep hoping that each day will bring the big chance. Among other things, young Carter is trying to meet and make an impression on one Cassius Hayden known as the Radio King. Little Mrs. Carter knows Mrs. Hayden casually and the magnate's wife has promised to call.

Things keep going from bad to worse until finally the furniture store from which they bought their things on credit sends to take back the furniture. Little Mrs. Carter manages to salvage one room, the living room. And while she and her husband are sorrowfully taking over ways and means—the Haydens call.

From then on the picture is filled with one embarrassing but clever situation after another, all of them ably handled through the direction of Frank Borzage. Kathryn Perry and Matt Moore have the featured roles in the production. Others in the cast are Zasu Pitts, Rodney Hildebrand, Ross McCutcheon, Arthur Housman, Belva McKay, Albert Gran and Julia Swayne Gordon.

KEEP CAMERA CLEAN TO GET GOOD RESULTS

Ideal Photo and Gift Shop Gives Advice on How to Clean a Kodak

Kodak snapshots are always treasured by those who take them. Each picture usually tells a story of happy times on vacation, the hunting trip or the children around the home. When making snapshots care should be taken to hold the camera steady and level and to include the exact view wanted. If the camera is inclined to one side horizontal lines will be at an angle in the picture. With most folding Kodaks a single reversible view finder is provided. It is marked to indicate the view that will be included both when the camera is used vertical and horizontally. The exposure should be made by pressing the shutter lever or the cable release being careful not to jar the camera.

If you desire to secure beautiful sky and cloud effects in Kodak pictures a Kodak color filter should be placed over the regular lens. This will increase the exposure necessary so that the camera will have to rest on some firm support or tripod. "To give efficient service a camera should not be abused," declares Carl L. Griem of the Ideal Photo and Gift Shop. "Much of the rough handling a Kodak receives is needless," he adds. "Occasionally it is a good plan to dust off your camera. If there is any dust on the lens it can be removed with a camel hair brush. If it needs further cleaning breathe on it and wipe it with a clean well worn linen handkerchief. If dust gets into the inside of the camera it will cause transparent spots on your negatives and black spots on your prints. It is therefore best to keep the camera in a leather case when not in use."

The Ideal Photo and Gift Shop at 203 E. College Avenue is ready to do quality finishing for all Kodak pictures. It is also equipped to do all kinds of commercial photography. This branch of photography is growing daily by leaps and bounds. In all advertising work photographic reproductions possess marked individuality and great pictorial interest. Pictures tell a story or put over an idea better than columns of cold type. Farmers find this an admirable method of selling live stock. Pictures of real estate subdivisions aid in disposing of the property. All up to date merchants desire records of their various window displays. Progress report pictures of contractors jobs have now become necessities. Whenever any kind of a commercial photograph is desired the Ideal Photo and Gift Shop is prepared to do the work in a satisfactory manner.

POWER BY RADIO IS ROSY DREAM

So Says Electrical Authority; Present Knowledge Inadequate, He Thinks

Ann Arbor, Mich. — (AP) — Rosy dreams or unlimited possibilities for radio have failed to impress Prof. Benjamin Bailey, acting head of the department of electrical engineering at the University of Michigan.

Transmission of power by radio, predicted by many scientists, is only future hope, in the opinion of Prof. Bailey.

"Nothing we know at present indicates the possibility of transmitting power by radio on a paying basis," he said recently. "Of course, we do transmit some kind of energy whenever we broadcast a concert, but no one runs his washing machine by radio yet."

"If an hydraulic engineer wishes to transmit water-power, he confines the water in a pipe. Similarly, the electrical engineer confines his current to a wire. Hydraulic power could be transmitted by throwing stones into a pond and allowing the waves to ripple across upon the surface of the water. The difficulty is that only a small fraction of the energy used could be recovered."

"When the electrical engineer sends out a radio wave, he is doing to the ether what the small boy does to the pond when he throws a stone into it. He is creating ether waves which spread in every direction, and only a small part of the energy he is sending out ever will be recovered."

"For example, to broadcast a short radio talk, about five horsepower is used. Any individual radio set picks up about one thousandth of a millionth of a horsepower. If every receiving set in America were tuned in on this station, it would receive about one-millionth of a horsepower—less than the horsepower exerted by a fly lifting its foot."

"To make transmission of power by radio commercially practicable we must be able to recover at least half of the energy launched into the ether."

Tax Reduction In 1928 Is Predicted By Babson

Babson Park, Mass. — Roger W. Babson has just returned from a trip to Washington where he studied the tax situation and the outlook for reduction in federal income taxes. Mr. Babson returns with the opinion that a reduction is very probable during the next two years, but that it will probably come in 1928 rather than in 1927. His complete statement is as follows:

TREASURY BALANCE
"Surely, Secretary Mellon is a great asset to this country. The same wisdom which he has displayed during the past forty years in business for himself, he is now showing in running the country's business. It is a great privilege for the nation to be able to get for $12,000 a year, a man of his capacity and interest. Many corporations would be glad to pay him a salary of ten or twenty times this amount to have him handle their finances. It surely is up to each one interested in the welfare of this country to support Mr. Mellon and make his work as easy for him as possible. For the same reasons we should support the President in his latest effort to still further reduce expenses."

"Secretary Mellon's treasury operations have not only reduced expenses greatly, but also have secured a good record of our national debt and reduced taxation, but notwithstanding these three things he is building up a surplus. It is estimated that this surplus for 1926 will be $500,000,000 and perhaps more. Of course, some will say that this is due to the prosperity of the country and the fact that business, according to the Babsonchart, is running 12 per cent above normal. The fact nevertheless remains that such conditions have existed many times before but the Secretary of the Treasury was not able to roll up a surplus. President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon have gone on the principle that the time to save money is when we are making it and the time to build up a surplus is during a period of prosperity. It would be well if more business men followed their example."

STOCK MARKET CONDITIONS
"Of course, the New York Stock Market has greatly helped the Treasury situation as we are obliged to pay an income tax on stock market profits as well as on business profits, rents, interest, etc. Stock market profits have been very large the past two years for many who have cashed in and the government's income tax receipts are benefiting accordingly. On the other hand, it must be remembered that Secretary Mellon has foreseen this condition and, for tax and other reasons, may have used this influence to keep the stock market active. Doubtless the administration will make an effort to have a rising stock market up through the election period of this fall. Realizing that the stock market cannot be kept up indefinitely, Secretary Mellon and his followers will probably think a considerable reaction is advisable during 1927. They then will surely make a strenuous effort to bring about a market uplift in 1928 so that things will look rosy for the big election which will come that year."

"It is interesting to note that both the Republicans and Democrats are agreed on further tax reduction and that the Democrats are for a greater reduction than the Republicans. Whether the Democrats' ardor for tax reduction is in the interests of the country or is merely to go one better than the Republican party is debatable. Many of my Washington friends say that the Democrats see tax reduction as popular throughout the nation and hence merely want to get on the band-wagon. Others feel that the Democrats will recommend such sweeping tariff reductions that the Republicans cannot accept them without showing a deficit. Thus the Republicans would be between the devil and the deep blue sea! If they refuse to make the reductions the Democrats can go before the country in 1928 and represent the Republicans as opposed to tax reduction; while the Republicans do accept the Democrats' tax reduction program, the Treasury will show a deficit and the Democrats can point to the Republicans as carrying on an extravagant and inefficient administration. Of course, any such policy would be cheap politics, but it is possible."

"One thing is certain, namely, that the Republicans will use all their influence to put off any tax reduction until 1928. The Democrats may try to get action in 1927; but any such early action will be very difficult to secure. 1928 will be the year for a reduction in federal income and other taxes. There will be nothing doing for 1927 and it is possible that the Legislature of 1927 will not apply to the 1928 income. The tax reduction legislation, however, is sure to come in 1928 and both parties in the Presidential election of that year will claim credit therefor."

"This probable action will be one of the many stimulants which the Republican party has in mind for 1928 in order to help them in the Presidential election of that year. Moreover, the Republican party will need stimulants unless the farming class feels very much better by that time. If the election took place today the Republicans would certainly lose several of the agricultural states, thus causing the election to hinge on New York state which would be the great fighting ground of the election. Hence, as above stated, the Republican party wants good business and a good stock market in 1928."

STOCKS VS BONDS
"The Republican administration is not interested in the bond market. Tax reduction, however, should tend to help the market for taxable bonds. The market for corporation bonds should be helped by extending their sale to a wider circle of investors. On the other hand, any such action would tend to be depressing to municipal bonds. All reductions in taxation for corporation bonds tends to widen the market therefor. Such reduction in taxation, however, tends to narrow the market for municipal bonds. If the output of municipal bonds continues at the present rapid pace and the suggested reduction in Federal income taxes takes place, it would not be surprising to see lower prices for municipal bonds in 1928 and possibly 1927.

"A reduction in taxation should be helpful to stocks of all kinds. The stock market is mainly dependent upon three things: sentiment, money, and business. All of these should be helped by a reduction in taxation. Men naturally feel better when taxes are reduced; money should be easier as taxes are lowered; while business should be helped by more money going into permanent improvements which will give income from year to year."

REPORTS OPTIMISTIC
"Earnings in 1926 promise to exceed those for 1925. Numerous corporations have already attained larger earnings than were shown in the first half of 1925. Present indications are that we shall see greater earnings in the present half of 1926 than were witnessed in the first half of the year. These indications are taken from the returns of more than 400 corporations and the majority of them show an increase over last year's earnings. The stocks of some of these corporations are soaring to new heights although a few companies are finding that they are not holding the pace and are not showing the increased profits that should be theirs."

"The United States Treasury is showing the increased profits that point to a $500,000,000 surplus at the end of the present fiscal year, notwithstanding the recent tax cut. A billion-dollar surplus is even talked about in some circles. President Coolidge, or Secretary Mellon should have no worries as to the financial condition of the Treasury at the close of this fiscal year or next. Certainly a further cut in taxes is possible whenever they feel the time has come to make such a cut."

MONTH PROVES SUMMER GOOD

Active July and August Was Not at Expense of Fall Months

Cleveland, Ohio—Iron Trade Review says: September is on the way to proving conclusively that the surprisingly active steel market of July and August was not at the expense of the upturn normally looked for at this season. Considering all districts, specifications, shipments and new orders thus far in September have been heavier than in the first half of August, which in turn topped July. At this time there is every indication that this gain will carry through the remainder of the month.

Save for the lagging structural shape and freight car markets, all department of the iron and steel industry appear invigorated. Automobile makers at Detroit are operating at or near capacity and their purchases of steel forecast continuance of this rate through October.

Inquiry for standard railroad rails approximately 1,000,000 tons has made its appearance, bearing out the belief that the railroads would place their 1927 track material requirements early to insure the desired delivery. Two of the larger western carriers are understood to be in the market for nearly 200,000 tons each. Chicago rail mills expect to close on 600,000 tons shortly.

Steelworks operations continuing unchanged at slightly over 85 per cent September output of steel ingots would seem to be on a parity with August, which with 4,004,583 tons was the best month since April. In general, the production of steel ingots thus far in 1926 is 30 days ahead of the corresponding period of 1925, the record year, while the make of pig iron is about 20 days ahead. Only a severe slump—a recession to an average of less than 65 per cent for the remainder of the year—can head off a new high ingot record.

Fourth quarter buying of finished steel has acquired momentum in the past week, especially at Chicago, but the volume of buying movement is absent. Tonnage users continue to sound out the market but, on finding producers generally firm on the advanced prices now being quoted, a majority have withheld committing themselves. Among small and moderate size users there has been an increasing tendency to cover. At Chicago fourth quarter inquiry in the past week has been double that of the preceding week. Producers feel more sure of their price position than a week ago.

Makers of full finished, or automobile, sheets have announced second advance of $2 per ton in three weeks. The leading independent maker at Chicago has of advanced all sheet prices $2 per ton. The Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products this week is $37.78, which compares with $37.76 last week and $37.61 one month ago.

BRITISH STRIKE CAUSES DELAY IN COAL SHIPMENTS

Britain's Beginning to Buy
Fuel from American Miners

More than 300 tons of coal for the city schools has been hauled to the bins up to the present time and fuel dealers are awaiting more shipments. The total amount required by the city schools will be approximately 1,500 tons and it will all be in the bins before the end of the year. The trouble is that the coal shipments are irregular, and dealers are unable to state when more coal will arrive in the city.

Shipments are irregular because of the coal strike in England for the last six months. With the coming of winter the English people have begun to order coal from America and the increased demand means delay for local dealers.

All fuel dealers of the city are sharing in sale of coal for the schools through a gentlemen's agreement between the school board and the fuel dealers. The latter agreed to supply the coal at a flat rate profit of $2 per ton, out of which they must pay for hauling and the city agrees to buy all the coal from the local merchants as long as they live up to the contract. The merchants agreed to permit inspection of the coal and to furnish a heating expert to teach the janitors or engineers the best method to burn the coal.

The coal is shipped to Appleton in carload lots, hauled to the company scales and weighed and delivered to the schools.

CALL FIREMEN TO BLAZE IN GARAGE

Fire believed to have started in some rags and waste while mechanics were testing spark plugs at the August Brandt Auto agency late Friday afternoon was extinguished by chemicals when the fire department arrived. Number 1 and 2 trucks, and the chief's car, answered the call. Slight damage resulted.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Oliver and family moved to Appleton from Cleveland, O., and will make their home at 550 N. Lave-st. Mr. Oliver is an engineer and will be connected with Orblison and Orblison Co.

RUPTURE SHIELD EXPERT HERE

E. J. Meinhardt, the well known expert from Chicago, will personally be at the Beaumont Hotel, Green Bay, Wis. on Friday, Sept. 24th, and he will be at the Athearn Hotel, Oshkosh, Wis. on Saturday, Sept. 25th, from 9:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M.

Mr. Meinhardt says "The Vacuum Rupture Shield" will not only hold the rupture perfectly, but will contract the opening in thirty days on the average case—usually giving instantaneous relief withstanding all strain regardless of the size and location of the rupture.

WARNING: Do not expose yourself to the danger of wearing old-style trusses with understraps. These trusses usually place the pad on the lump and not on the rupture opening. This often causes strangulation which usually necessitates an immediate surgical operation or results in sudden death. "The Vacuum Rupture Shield" has no understraps, no straps around the body or legs. It is also perfectly sanitary and practically indestructible, and should be worn while bathing. Only gentlemen are invited to call at this time as a special visit will be made here later for women and children.

Notice: "The Vacuum Rupture Shield" can not be fitted by mail. Every case must be seen personally. Please note the above dates and hours carefully. Strictly no charge for demonstration. Address all correspondence to E. J. Meinhardt Co., Whitehall, Michigan.

Expect to Dispose of Court Cases Before Jury Is Called

Judge Edgar V. Werner, circuit judge of the Tenth judicial district, will arrange the trial calendar for the coming term of circuit court at 11 o'clock Monday morning, it was announced by Court Clerk Harry A. Shannon on Saturday.

It is probable Mr. Shannon said, that court cases and issues of law for the court will be disposed before any jury cases are set. The effort is always made to postpone jury cases until farm work is out of the way whenever it is possible, Mr. Shannon said.

The appeal from a decision in case where driving a car while intoxicated was alleged is the only criminal matter set for hearing.

VANITY CASE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Mysterious lights flash one night from the Heath household and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog over the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to MYRA's fortune, and beautiful BUNNY Moore, to whom suspicion points because of her queer actions.

MYRA Heath never used cosmetics, yet when her body was found she was heavily rouged. A rare old bottle from her collection of glass has been used by the murderer to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others.

Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Heath, saying Inman is the murderer. Inman confides to TODHUNTER BUCK, who is in love with Bunny, that he saw her ascending the stairs after the murder. One of the Heath servants says the same thing.

Cunningham goes to Anderson's house, and there, while waiting for his host, is suddenly confronted by Perry Heath, who then vanishes in the darkness. Anderson arrives soon after and upbraids Cunningham for letting Heath get away.

Todhunter Buck, puzzling as to the best way to clear Bunny, is sitting in the dark when Bunny slips out of the house of his aunt, where she is now a guest, and joins a man at the edge of a wood. When Bunny leaves, Buck trails the man and recognizes Perry Heath, that away and the next day Buck pleads with Bunny to tell him all she knows.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XL

"Such considerations, dear, must be set aside in the cause of law and order."

"I'm not a lawyer, but I don't think a lawyer would talk any more prudently than that. But you know, Tod, you'd be suspected of anything, rather than tell something that might involve a friend, and—might after all involve him falsely."

"The girl looked so earnest, so worried, and so sincere in her arguments, that Buck, though his heart gave a bound of delight at the fact of proof of her own innocence, realized it would be a hard job to persuade her to hear witness, which, as she said, might lead to incrimination of the wrong person."

"Well," he said, a little hopelessly, "if you keep mum, you'll make more trouble all around."

"I don't care. I mean, I can't help it. I didn't kill MYRA."

"But you made up her face—"

"Oh, you horrible, dreadful thing! I'll never speak to you again! Go away. How can you say such a awful thing to me?"

Her eyes grew big with horror and she looked at Tod as if at some monstrous reptile, and indeed, he felt as if he were one.

"I'm no good as a detective," he thought to himself. "I'm no good as an adviser or assistant to the girl I love—in fact, I'm no good as a lover—she doesn't seem to see me in that light. But I must get one more thing off my chest. I must find out whether she really said 'putty' last night, or some other word of similar sound."

So he rose to go away, then paused, and in a tone he tried to make casual, he said:

"What about the putty?"

He was both amazed and alarmed at the effect of this speech.

Bunny turned white, and her hands gripped the chair as she whispered, staring at him as one might at a suddenly materialized ogre.

"Now, Tod had a strong inclination to say, 'Oh, I know all about it,' and thus probably find out a lot."

But the girl looked so helpless and pathetic, so short of all her bravado and jaunty independence, that it seemed to him unfair to deceive her. Moreover, whatever the putty was or meant, it was quite evidently an important factor in the case, and he had no right to wrest the secret from her. If she chose to tell him, well and good. If not, he felt unwilling to force her hand.

"Do you know what I'm going to do, Bunny? I'm going to get a friend of mine, who's a first-rate detective, to come here and look into things."

"All right," she responded, but she spoke listlessly, as if she had all at once lost interest in the whole matter.

"You're willing?"

"Of course. Why not?"

"And, Bunny—darling, won't you respects to the memory of MYRA Heath.

Bunny felt as one in a dream. Her thoughts were chaotic, and in vain she endeavored to range them in orderly array.

The excitement of the last few days left her mind and brain in a state of ferment, and she gave herself up now to watching the people, without trying to unravel and disentangle her own conclusions or intentions.

But after a time, the people had all arrived; nothing could be seen through the curtained windows next door, and Bunny knew that the services had begun.

Then the tears came. Emotion at the thought of beautiful MYRA, dead—murdered—caused a rush of sobbing grief, that while it racked poor Bunny's body, seemed to clear her mind. As she grew quieter, she found she saw things more clearly.

She realized that of all the people in the Heath home, it was only MYRA whom she loved, and whose terrible death she must help to avenge if by any possibility she could help. She forced herself to go over the events of that terrible night. She made herself remember everything that had happened, or that she had reason to think happened. She closed her eyes, and for the first time since the tragedy, she thought coherently and deeply as to what she should do. She was not sure who had killed MYRA—she could not be sure. Yet Perry Heath had insisted on seeing her to warn her of her own danger, and so—

But then, she had seen LARRY—and, oh, good heavens! LARRY had said he saw her, he told Tod Buck that. Was LARRY lying? Oh, had he seen her? Vanity case and all! Perhaps after all the very best thing to do would be to tell the whole absolute and utter truth. Keep nothing back—nothing.

She opened her eyes, and at once she rubbed them hard, sitting up straight in her chair.

She blinked and winked a moment, and then decided her eyes were not playing a trick on her, but there really was a man sitting in a chair across the room, looking at her.

Keep in Trim!

Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health.

To be well, keep your eliminative system active! The kidneys are the blood filters. If they fail to function as they should, there is apt to be a retention of body poisons. Symptoms are a dull, languid feeling and, often, toxic backaches, headaches, and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is sometimes shown by burning or scanty excretion. More and more people are learning to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic.

Doan's Pills have been publicly recommended by more than 50,000 endorsees. Ask your neighbor!

Her Own Way

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

AN ASTOUNDING TURN

Miss Meredith took her package, paid her check, and left.

"I'll say for a tender foot you are going some," said Angie Horton as she stopped beside me.

"What do you mean, going some?"

"You don't mean to tell me you don't know who that girl is?" she asked.

"Yes, I know. She is Miss Joan Meredith."

"And doesn't that mean anything to you?"

"Not a thing," I answered airily.

"She is the boss' step-daughter."

"Good gracious!"

"Yes, he married a woman much older than him—years ago. She was an immensely rich widow with two children, Joan and John Meredith. They are twins. Mrs. Robinson, when she was Mrs. Meredith, had made for herself a solid social position. I'm sure that J. D. would never have married her if she hadn't had money and position. For he had an ambition even when he was very young, they tell me, to make a place for himself in society. He must even then have determined that his marriage and his love should be entirely two different affairs."

"Is his wife still living?"

"No. And I'll say this for him. While she was ten years older than he, he seemed devoted to her when they were out together. He paid her a great deal of attention. And he never made her ashamed by foisting any of his illicit love affairs upon her. I think she was probably quite happy with him."

"Well, I'm glad it is not quite as bad as first reported, Angie."

But at that, I thought to myself, J. D. Robinson is quite bad enough. I wondered if he cares anything for his step-daughter. If he did, how could he square himself with his conscience for his seeming determination to ruin another girl quite as young and presumably as virtuous as she.

I was called back to myself by hearing Angie Horton say:

"At that, my dear, I don't see how you can get away with it. If J. D. finds out that you are a friend of his daughter (by the way, they say he just idolizes her), he'll make you give her up."

"How do you get that way, Angie? J. D. Robinson or any other man can't make me give anybody up. I am free, white, and if not quite twenty-one I am able to pick my friends and keep them."

"Now don't get crummy, Judy. I'm not telling you what to do. I'm just putting the case before you. I'm just showing you that you've got to make your choice."

ANOTHER'S TROUBLES

"I don't see that way at all," I said to Angie Horton when she told me I had to make my choice. "I don't see where Mr. Robinson comes in. In the first place I don't want anything to do with him anyway. I only want to work in this store and get paid for it. I wouldn't have anything to do with him if he were the last man on earth."

"That, Judy, is because you have never earned your living before."

"But I have, Angie."

"Where?"

"As hat checker at the Beaux Arts."

"Then you must know Mamie Riley."

"Mamie Riley? Of course, I know her. She is my very best friend. I live at her house."

"If that's the case you are all right, Judy. I know Mamie is as straight as a string. No man can have her just for the asking, or for the price of a job either. But, young lady, I say to you that you better be looking for another place for you are not going to stay in this store long."

Do you mean to tell me, Angie Horton, that I have got to become a sweetie of the boss if he wants me to hold my position in this store?"

"It looks like that to me, Judy."

"You're looking cross-eyed."

"Well anyway, you have more courage than I, Judy," Angie whispered. "I might as well tell you that if Mr. Robinson had beckoned to me I would have gone to him."

"Why, Angie Horton, you know you would do no such thing. You're not in love with him, are you?"

The girl whitened and I saw great pain under her strained smile.

"Surely, dear, you don't mean what you said just now. You don't care for that big bluff, do you?"

"I certainly do not, but at the present moment my brother is in Arizona in a tubercular hospital. My little sister who should be in school is an errand girl in the millinery house of Madame LaMont, and my mother is old, too old and crippled to work. Most of the time she has to scuff around in a rocking chair. Her knees will not hold her up."

Tears came into the somewhat hard little eyes: "I'm so tired, so tired, Judy, that honestly I envy your chance to have luxury and leisure as well as money for those you love when I saw the boss talking to you this afternoon."

"I said to myself: 'I'd be willing to pay the price.'"

"It is a wonder that sometimes we all don't get tired and think we would be willing to pay the price, Angie."

I was thinking of what Mamie had told me in the morning when I said it, however. And I resolved that never again would I find any criticism for the girl who did pay. And never again would I say to myself that under any circumstances which might come to me at any time I myself might not be willing to pay.

However, what I said to Angie was entirely a different matter. I know she needed bucking up.

"My dear girl, I'm not so sure that the boss was going to offer me luxury and leisure. You see he is a little afraid of me—I stopped short. I was about to blurt out the whole story about Miss Cleaver. It was no wonder that Mr. Robinson had asked me so many times not to tell."

"Whether he was going to make that offer or not," I continued, "whether or not, as you say, I have to make a choice. I think I am going to choose Joan instead of her father. I never have met a girl I liked so well as first sight. Wasn't it sweet of her to be so nice to me right off the reel. Yes, I'm going to choose Joan."

"You can do that," said Angie Horton with a sigh. "You have no one depending on you. If it wasn't for me and my family I would throw up this job tomorrow and try for a better one. I would like to dance professionally. But as it is I am so frightened when I see a new girl coming into this department, it turns me sick. When you came in here, Judy, you cannot imagine how I hated you. I know I have not been doing quite as well lately. My sales have dropped off considerably, but I have been so worried that I haven't slept nights. I cannot work all day if one has no sleep."

"Won't you let me help you, Angie?" I asked and my eyes were full of tears. For I realized that beside the troubles of Mamie and Angie and Miss Cleaver I had had no troubles as yet.

"I haven't much money, dear, but if twenty-five dollars would help you out I would let you have it until something better turns up for you."

Angie Horton's face brightened and then it became overclouded again. The tears that had been pushed back again her eyelids overflowed her lashes and went streaming down her cheeks.

"Nothing better will ever happen to me, Judy. If I took your money I could never pay it back."

"Never mind, dear, if you do not, I'll bring it to you in the morning. And don't you worry any more. We'll have to stick together, you and I."

With Squaw Pocan in fine shape to attempt the ironman act, Kimberly baseball club of the Fox River Valley league will invade Brandt park Sunday in an effort to trounce its hated rival, Appleton, in a double bill and retain fourth place in the standings. The game are the last of the loop season. Pocan hurled stellar ball for Stormy Kromer's Blackwell, Oklahoma he gang this summer. Last week he let Niagara down with two scratch bingles and fanned 15 batters. When not hurling he was used in the outfield because of his slugging powers.

Should Squaw falter in the second tilt Vanderloop who beat Appleton in great style a few weeks ago is ready to go. Either Sternagle or Reffke will toil the opener for Appleton and the other man probably will start the second.

Boyle also will be ready to take the mound. One change has been made in the Appleton batting order. Hillman has been moved to fifth and Ashman holds down Arnie's position farther down the line. Reports from Kimberly indicate a record crowd will follow the Cookmen to Brandt park. With Pocan back on the hill the K-C fans expect a double win over the Baetzmen.

JONES, VON ELM IN GOLF FINALS

Bobby Must Beat Biggest Foe of Past Meets to End Great Year

Short Hills, N. J. (P)—The country's two best amateur golfers, as officially rated were the only competitors for the National Amateur Championship left Saturday out of 141 starters who began seeking the title Monday.

The final round is the third match in three years between Bobby Jones and George Von Elm. At Merion in 1924 the blonde challenger from Los Angeles lost to the Atlanta in the final round, 9 and 8. At Oklahoma last year Bobby won in the semi final, 7 and 6. After a bad start Von Elm has played this week almost as brilliantly as the champion.

While Jones was stroking one under par to defeat the veteran Francis Ouimet, 5 to 4 in the semi-finals, Von Elm was swamping the youthful George Dawson of Chicago, 11 and 10, with a string of pure and birdies. Bobby won the qualifying medal with 143 while Von Elm took 152.

Jones needed victory Saturday to round out the most remarkable series of achievements ever written into golfing history in a single season. He already has won the American and British open championships this year. He holds an unsurpassed record in the American open over a stretch of seven years. He has won the American amateur two years running.

BADGER CAGERS START PRACTICE

Doc Meanwell Works With 30 Basketball Men for Week Before School Opens

Madison—Foxy Doc, the little Napoleon of Wisconsin basketball, Walter E. Meanwell, has stolen a march on his rival conference cage coaches this fall by summoning his candidates for the Badger five to Madison for a season of intensive practice before the opening of the university.

Thursday, some thirty tentative candidates for the Cardinal five were in Madison and will remain there until the opening of the semester next week, drilling daily under Coach Meanwell and Assistant Coach Les Gage in one of the Madison high school gymnasiums. After the opening of the university, there will be three regular practices a week for the first few weeks then the usual daily drill after the football season.

FIGHT EXPERTS PICK SARRON AS FLY CHAMP

Southern fight experts are picking S. Petey Sarron of Birmingham, Ala., as the next heavyweight champion of the world. Sarron went to the Olympic games in 1924 as an alternate to Fidel La Barba, present king of the flyweights, and though he didn't get in to active participation he gained considerable experience on the trip. Sarron fought La Barba in Boston several years ago and made a good showing. He's now in Florida where he's making rapid progress. He has not lost a fight since turning professional some time ago.

PACKERS READY FOR DETROITERS

Opening Game of Pro Loop Sees Leading Title Contenders at Bay

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Columbus at Chicago (Cards)
Chicago Bears at Milwaukee
Detroit at Green Bay

Headed by Jimmy Conzelman, the Detroit Panthers will lock horns with the Packers Sunday afternoon at the City stadium. The opening kick-off is scheduled promptly at 2 p. m.

Bobby Cahn, Chicago, rated as one of the best officials in Joe Carr's post-graduate football wheel will referee John Dunn, Minneapolis, vice-president of the National League, is to umpire while Iverson, of Sheboygan, is the headlinesman.

Gregory, Gruba, and Edwards, three members of the 1925 varsity at Michigan are playing with Detroit. Vick and Marion, Wolverine regulars in 1924, are also chasing the 'cowhide' for Detroit.

Capt. Sonnenberg of the Panthers is an all-American pro tackle and a kicker who averages 55 on his punts. He is said to be a sure shot on place kicks anywhere in side the forty-yard line. Eddie Scherer, who plays quarter back, is a product of Knute Rockne's school of football and last fall, he was a team mate of Rex Enright's at Notre Dame.

Lyne, who starred at end for Rochester last season, is playing a wing for Conzelman's title. Crook and Madden of W. & J. and Hultman from the Michigan Aggies are three of the Panthers' mainstays. These three players were members of Detroit's 1925 topnotch eleven. Dinger Doane, former Milwaukee fullback, is crashing the line for the invaders.

The injury jinx which appeared on the first play of last Sunday's game when Abramson injured his knee is still chasing the Panther squad. Lovell is bothered a lot with an ailing toe while Basing is suffering from a misplaced rib. Bud McGaw, former captain of the Beloit college eleven will be in a Panther uniform Sunday. McGaw is a big rangy guard, tipping the beam at a 195 pounder.

The teams will line up as follows:

Green Bay	Detroit
O'Donnell	Grube
Cyrs, Cahoon	Left Tackle
Woodin, McGaw	Edwards, Barrett
Earpe, Jean	Right Guard
Gardner, Rose	Hultman, Harvey

CUBS PLAY MENASHA SQUAD HERE SUNDAY

Appleton Cubs will tackle one of the strongest teams in Menasha Sunday afternoon at Interlake park when the Menasha Rounders arrive for a battle. A week from Sunday the Cubs go to Dale for the last game of the season. The game at Interlake park is open to the public. Probable batters for the Appleton squad will be Laabs or Murphy, pitcher and Matueg, catcher.

last Wisconsin basketball team will be back this year. It is easily apparent that Coach Meanwell is determined to bring the championship back to Madison—if preparation will do it. Camp use is that not more than one veteran, Behr, has anything like a chance on holding his position. The sophomore material is said to be the finest the university has had in years.

LOCAL GRIDDERS SETTLE DOWN TO WORK NEXT WEEK

Orange Prepares for Shawano on Saturday; Blues Expect Full Team Out

Both Appleton high school and Graceland college grid squads will settle down to their hardest week of work of the fall season next week, according to indications from the local football camps. Appleton play opens the season Saturday when Shawano high comes here for a game. Scrimmage will be on the cards most of the week, ending with a light drill Friday.

Coach Mark Catlin will have practically every candidate on the field by Monday so that he can start intensive work. The Blues reported Wednesday but some of the men were among the missing until Friday. Even Friday found a few absent. However, with school starting next week and the first whole week of work awaiting them, every prospective candidate is expected in a suit. The Marquette game is but two weeks away. The Golden Avalanche has been in training camp for an entire week. As the Blues did not have a complete tilt this week, the Cream City crew has a full week's advantage. Marquette is one of the strongest opening opponents faced by a Blue squad.

Appleton high will endeavor to break last season's jinx with a victory in the first game. Last fall the Orange failed to win a game, though tying one and outplaying two other foes, to lose by slight margins. The Shawano tilt, coached by Coaches Shields and Delorge, a chance to get a line on their new material for conference games. The Orange opens its conference season on Oct. 1 at Manitowoc. The Shipbuilders are considered to have one of the strongest teams in the conference this year, a prospective title team.

CLEVELAND STAR UPSETS EXPERTS

Burns Disproves Theory of Weakness Against Righties by New Record

In compiling his record of 60 two-base hits, breaking the former record of 59, held by Tris Speaker, George Burns has completely upset the theory that he is weak against right-handed pitching.

Back in 1920 when Cleveland won a pennant and a world series, Burns shared the first base play with "Doc" Johnston. The two performed most capably. It was customary for Burns to play when the opposition used a southpaw being a right-handed batter, while Johnston, who batted left-handed, played against right-handed pitching. Johnston always insisted he would be able to consistently hit left-handers if given a chance to play regularly against that kind of pitching. Burns had the same opinion of right-handers.

This year Burns, as regular first baseman of the Cleveland club, has battled against all kinds of pitching and enjoyed his best year. It is an interesting fact that he has had more success against right-handers than southpaws. He made something like a dozen more two-baggers against right-handers than left-handers in breaking Tris Speaker's two-base hit record of 59 in a season.

FRENCH NETTERS BEAT AMERICANS

Borota Eliminates Richards to Make Sure of Win in National Tourney

Forest Hills—The star of tennis empire is shining for France. America's championship cup is to make its second trip overseas in forty-five years of competition and its first trip for 23 years. Having defeated this country's best, the French ace Jean Borota and Rene LaCoste survived for Saturday's final round of the annual national tournament. In conquering Vincent Richards Friday in the semi-finals at 3-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, Borota dashed the hopes of American hope.

Henri Cochet, who on Thursday eliminated the six-time American champion, big Bill Tilden, was defeated in the semi-finals by LaCoste, 2-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3. The trophy first went abroad in 1903 when Hugh L. Doherty, of the famous brothers took it to England. LaCoste already holds the American National indoor title and it was in a battle with Borota that he won it last February in New York.

France lost the Davis cup matches but her Suzanne beat our Helen and Borota won at Wimbledon.

APPLETON SQUAD WINS SOFTBALL TITLE OF VALLEY

Graef Bests Courchane in Hot Park Duel at Kimberly Park, 4 to 3

FRIDAY GAMES
APPLETON 4, KIMBERLY 3.
Kaukauna 9, Neenah 4.

MONDAY GAMES
Kimberly at Kaukauna (postponed).

Behind steady hurling by Lothar Graef, Appleton's entry in the first annual Fox river valley softball tournament annexed the valley title Friday afternoon at Kimberly, beating the K-C men, 4-3. The win gave the locals a chess state of six victories for the tournament. Two wins were taken from each of the other teams, Neenah, Kimberly and Kaukauna. One game still remains on the schedule as Kimberly and Kaukauna clash in a postponed game Monday at the Electric City. Second place is at stake. Kaukauna can tie for the position by a win.

Friday's game was about the best played softball tilt seen in the valley this year. Both teams battled desperately and showed plenty of real softball play. It was not until the seventh frame that a 3-3 tie was broken by Appleton. Appleton scored in the first, second and third. Kimberly scored twice in the fourth and added another in the fifth to tie the count.

In the seventh an Appleton runner scored from third on a hit, with two down for the winning tally. Both teams fought hard for more runs but were unable to tally. Once Kimberly's first batter got a two bagger and was marooned on third while watching three men go out. In the final frame with two down, Kimberly got a hit. The batter stole two sacks and attempted to pitch home with three balls on the batter. A quick pick from Graef to Bayer caught him by a foot.

Courchane and Graef exhibited a fine mound battle. McKenzie and Schabert went for the winners. For Kimberly, Williams, the catcher, was the big boy with the war club. In the field Harp starred, picking off two hot liners behind second. On one he doubled an Appleton man off second after a spectacular catch. Appleton 4-3, 1 1 0 0 0 1 0 0-4. Kimberly 0 0 0 2 1 0 0 0-3. Batteries: Appleton—Graef and Bayer; Kimberly—Courchane and Williams.

CARDS TAKE TOP IN N. L. CHASE

Wallop Phils While Reds Lose Desperate 10-frame Fray to Giants

Baseballdom Saturday was immersed in the closest and most fascinating championships of years. The Cards were defending the premier hold on the National alone with the Reds one game away as a result of Cincinnati's downfall after a desperate ten inning battle with the Giants while St. Louis was conquering the Phillies. Another Cleveland victory lead in York narrowed the Yankees lead in the American to three and one half contests.

The standings of the leaders follow:

National League	W. L. To play Pct.
St. Louis	86 60 8 .589
Cincinnati	85 61 8 .582
American League	W. L. To play Pct.
New York	87 57 10 .604
Cleveland	84 61 9 .579

Although St. Louis gained complete possession of first place the Reds made the standing by winning the remaining eight games scheduled in the event the Cards take seven of eight contests left. To clinch the pennant, St. Louis needs to win all of its games granting the Cincinnati tossers annex seven frays, one of the encounters brings both clubs together.

The Cards breezed through to a 10-1 victory in Philadelphia Friday, Sherris holding the Phillies to eight hits while his mates collected 16 off three opposing twirlers.

Captain Frank Frisch of the Giants was the carrier in Cincinnati's winning streak which had reached eight straight. Frisch banged a homer in the tenth to give New York a 5-4 decision.

Although Hills gave the Robins but four hits Brooklyn took the measure of the Pirates, 3 to 1, blasting the hopes of Pittsburgh to remain in the running. The Corsairs are now five and a half games from the top.

Rain brought idleness to the Cubs who were tabled to oppose the Braves. The Indians continued their stubborn offensive tactics with the Yankees, turning out a 5 to 1 victory to clip a full game off the New York lead.

Washington triumphed over the Tigers by 5 to 4, drawing to within a half-game of the third place Athletics who were defeated by the Browns, 6 to 3.

Chicago noosed out the Red Sox, 3 to 2. Clancy's triple scored Milwaukee in the fifth, developing the winning run.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Little has been said about Wisconsin's frosh grid hopes this year, but reports from Madison indicate that at least three of the boys are above the average players. One is Pat Mohardt of Gary, Ind., a brother of the famous Johnny Mohardt, Notre Dame's All-American back. Pat is taller than John and built along the same lines. He was all-state halfback for three years in Indiana. At one game witnessed by Rockne, he ran through an opposing team for, five touchdowns.

Knute afterwards told Johnny that maybe he would be too good for him if he let the kid brother get away from Notre Dame. However, Johnny took the risk and got Pat to go to Wisconsin in spite of a few Eastern colleges bidding for his services.

Another pair of frosh grididders would make four, and a third, the size of the largest is William Nofsaker from Pennsylvania, 6 feet 4 inches in height and 249 pounds in weight. He was a three-letter man in high school, playing football and basketball and taking part in track. His running mate is McKaskel a lad from Arkansas. Mac is 6 feet 2 and weighs over 210 pounds. He was a star guard in high school and had a reputation for speed beside bulk. Tom Jones will take a second look at these lads in an effort to find a shot-potting successor to Herbie Schwarze. lumthCoU. nHms jpu

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN BACK BLUE, MARQUETTE GAME

Will March to Whiting Field on Oct. 2 When Golden Avalanche Plays Here

Plans for "Appleton day" observed at the first grid battle between Marquette university, Milwaukee, and Lawrence college since the war are being rapidly completed by committees in charge. The game will open the Blue schedule on Oct. 2. Marquette grid followers expect a close battle. The Golden Avalanche lost a large group of stars of the 1925 eleven. Cream City fans have reserved a block of 500 tickets and will invade the city equipped with colors, banners and noisemakers.

Members of the Appleton chamber of commerce, will parade to Whiting field at 1:15 on the afternoon of the game equipped with blue and white caps and pennants. The 12th Field Artillery band will lead the march and will play at the field. At present local business men are planning to advertise the game by placing stickers on the back of business envelopes telling about it.

Lawrence boosters will have seats on the north side of the field while those from Marquette will be placed on the south bleachers, according to Fred Tresize, athletic manager. General admission will be $1. General admission and reserved seats will be $1.50. About 1,800 seats will be available. Special reservations will be made for Appleton business men and members of the chamber of commerce.

Persons desiring tickets should write to Mr. Tresize, stating to sit on the field they desire. A two-cent stamp for the return letter should be enclosed. The tickets will be returned to the applicants the week before the game.

"Way back in the good old days before the war, the Blues were able to beat the Cream City crew, but in the last few years its teams ranked with the best in BIG TEN circles. In that time the team earned the title of Golden Avalanche and developed some of the country's best stars. These included Larvie Dilwig, all-American end. The last game between the teams ended when Coach Mark Catlin called his team off the field while it was holding a big lead. Due to a protested touchdown. That was during the war. Now the Blues have an equal chance to trim the crack Milwaukeeans, who have lost the star vets.

STAR PILOT RETURNS TO STUDIES AT RIPON
Ripon—Ripon college football fans were elated with the announcement that Gordon Murchie, crack quarterback who was lost to the varsity last season when he broke his collarbone in the opening game.

After a long absence Murchie is rated as the best quarterback Ripon has had since the days of Hans Larsen and Bill Gustin.

BREWERS DROP FAIR TO CHAMPION KERNELS

Louisville—The champion Colonels cast a chilling frost over the title hopes of the Brewers here Friday afternoon by winning both ends of a glittering double bill. Friday night the best Brewer team was a broken wreck at the bottom of the bill. The scores were 4 to 1 and 4 to 2.

DODGE BROTHERS 1926 OUTPUT PASSES ENTIRE 1925 PRODUCTION

When the 74th motor car shipped from Dodge Brothers factory at Detroit on August 26, 1926, left the freight yards at 1:30 in the afternoon, a new record had been established. The shipments to Dealers this year had reached 359,967, the output for the entire year of 1925.

The consistent growth of Dodge Brothers business is revealed clearly by the statement from the factory showing the figures for previous years. The 1921 production was passed April 5, the 1922, May 27, the 1923, June 9, and the 1924 July 22.

"This constantly accelerating demand for Dodge Brothers products," says R. K. Wolter of the Wolter Motor company, local Dodge Brothers dealer, "is convincing evidence of the recognition of the fact that dependability and sound investment value are the result of the policy adopted twelve years ago by Dodge Brothers, that of constantly improving a well tried standard design instead of attempting to stimulate sales by radical changes in appearance and construction and by annual announcement of new models."

WILLIAMS HAS LITTLE LUCK AS VACATION OPENS

E. L. Williams, city clerk, is enjoying his annual vacation. Although an ardent sportsman, the best he could do on his first duck hunting venture of the season Friday was to bag a couple of mudhens. He is planning on several more expeditions, however, before returning to his duties at the city hall. Next week he and Mrs. Williams will make a motor trip through southern Wisconsin.

COUNTRY ROADS IN BAD SHAPE

Construction Work on Highway 76 Stopped by Bad Weather

Recent rains stopped work on state trunk highway 76 and at Black Creek but it is expected crews will be able to resume construction the early part of next week. It was reported on Saturday. Koepke Brothers' Construction Co., completing a small concrete job on the latter road have about two days work left, it was stated.
 Concrete roads throughout the county are reported in good condition for Sunday travel but dirt and gravel is not in as good condition.
 Reports from other states indicate that floods last week were quite general and tourists are advised to not attempt a great deal of travel except over main trunk and county lateral roads.

SOLICITORS FOR MOTOR WEEK ARE NAMED BY STAFF

Plans for Event Are Presented to Merchants at Meeting at Chamber

Eleven persons were appointed Friday morning to solicit the business district for aid in conducting the "Motor to Appleton" week campaign which will be conducted in the city during the week beginning Monday, Oct. 11. The appointments, which were made at a meeting of the special "Motor to Appleton" committee with local merchants at the chamber of commerce offices, included A. A. Wettengel, W. W. Frank, Harvey Schlitz, H. L. Post, C. Hopfensperger, Chris Mullen, Henry Goudman, J. R. Whitman, George Dams, Walter Joyce, and G. Galpin. Appointments for three more blocks to be announced. H. L. Post, general chairman of the special committee, presided.

Two kinds of special advertising, arrows and package stuffers, will be used to broadcast the event. Harvey Schlitz, chairman of the special advertising committee, reported. The arrows will be painted on sign boards which will be erected at points of vantage in the surrounding country. They will measure about five feet long in length and 12 inches wide and will bear the words "Shop in Appleton" or "Motor to Appleton". The arrows will point toward Appleton.

The sign boards will be erected about two weeks before "Motor to Appleton" week as permanent fixtures in this and surrounding counties. A radius of approximately 35 miles around the city will be covered. The signs will cost about $4 each and each merchant will be expected to buy one, the committee reported.

Street cars and busses operating in and out of the city will carry banners advertising the occasion during the week it is in progress, according to George Dams, chairman of the street car and motor bus committee. In this manner it is believed that persons will be continually reminded of this particular week.

Plans for newspaper advertising were reported by Hugh Corbett, chairman of the merchandising policy committee. That merchants can be assured of complete cooperation from the mayor and police was indicated by Ed. Schmaltz of the committee on city agencies.

A supper for staff workers and merchants will be held early in October. Managers and heads of all departments will be invited to attend. A committee to arrange for the supper

KURTZMANN

Pianos Chosen For Studios of Jebe School of Music

The Jebe School of Music has been equipped with KURTZMANN Pianos — Grands and Uprights. The Kurtzmann was chosen because of the splendid tone quality, excellent action, and remarkable endurance, as attested by thousands of schools and conservatories where this piano has been in daily use for years.

Kurtzmann pianos have always been recognized as belonging to the small number of most distinctly high-grade instruments made. Distinguished for their fine finish, artistic case design, even scale, and superior singing quality of tone, Kurtzmann Pianos are universally approved by musicians and critics.

Just as the Kurtzmann is the ideal piano for schools, so it is the perfect instrument for the home — it lasts a life-time.

To tell you more about the Kurtzmann; to show the Kurtzmann models; quote prices, terms, etc., would be a pleasure. Arrange to come in real soon.
